

The Service Set

Frosts Intrigue Foreigners

By Winzola McLendon

REAR ADM. Laurence Frost, the new Director of Naval Intelligence, took time out last evening from his cloak and dagger duties and gave a party. Held in the Oakleaf, Anchor and Eagle Rooms of the Naval Hospital Commissioned Officers' Mess, it was an upper echelon affair to introduce foreign Naval and Air Attaches to the Chief of Naval Operations and Mrs. Arleigh Burke.

Forty-seven flags—one for each country represented and one for the United Nations—formed a background for the Navy orchestra which played throughout the reception hours. Two more flags—the Stars and Stripes and Adm. Burke's four star banner—were back of the hosts (Mrs. Frost smart in champagne peau de soie with an overlay of lace) and honor guests. Mrs. Burke wore a blue, embroidered polished cotton sheath.

First through the line were the new Paraguayan Naval Attache, Rear Adm. Guillermo Haywood, and Senora Haywood. Close behind them were the Italian Ambassador and Signora Brosio. Arriving alone was Korean Ambassador Yang who said his pretty wife, Polly, came home from Walter Reed Hospital Tuesday and was "feeling fine."

CANADIAN Commodore and Mrs. Angus Boulton were introducing a Washington visitor, Gen. Charles Foulkes (he is chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Radford's Canadian counterpart); Netherlands Military Attache and Mme. W. Th. Carp said they had just returned from a 3000-mile trip with their trailer—she did the driving while he "copiloted"; and Canadian Maj. Gen. H. A. Sparling was telling friends that Mrs. Sparling was telling friends that Mrs. Sparling was at the party but they weren't speaking since she beat him six strokes at golf last week.

Mrs. Ralph J. Canine, wife of Army Lt. Gen. Canine, was admiring the chic pink silk Parisian chapeau worn by Mrs. Robert Schow whose husband, Maj. Gen. Schow, heads Army Intelligence.

Newcomers Vice Admiral and Mrs. R. F. Elkins (he heads the British Joint Services Mission)—fresh from unpacking 32 trunks — were chatting with Netherlands Rear Admiral Koudijs.

"I see you are wearing your wings, tonight," was Belgian Maj. Gen. Andre Bigwood's greeting when he saw the "butter-fly" sleeves on olive-green velvet terno worn by Mrs. Rafael Pargas (her husband is Philippine Armed Forces Attache. Air Force Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Cabell were a foursome with Pakistani Maj. Gen. and Mrs. M. Hayaud Din.

FROM EMBASSY Row were Japanese Ambassador Tani, the Thai Ambassador and Mme. Sarasin, Indonesian Ambassador and Mme. Notowidigdo, Turkish Ambassador and Mme. Gork and Mme. Tran Van Chuong, the wife of the Vietnamese Ambassador.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Thomas headed a long line of top-drawer Navy which included Assistant Secretary Albert Pratt, Vice Admiral and Mrs. Thomas Combs, Vice Admiral and Mrs. Herbert G. Hopwood, Vice Admiral and Mrs. R. E. Libby and many, many more.
